A Passion For Ribbonry

Synopsis

Discover the art and techniques of decorative ribbonry with Camela Nitschke as your guide in this lavishly photographed project book. Camela shares her passion for ribbons and shows you how to use ribbon to create stunning lifelike wildflowers such as the day lily, showy lady's slipper, black-eyed Susan, coreopsis, and lupine as well as favorite garden flowers including the sunflower, pansies, roses. You'll learn how to make 32 ribbon flowers with easy-to-follow, step-by-step instructions and photos. Then, select from the 80 project ideas including glamorous hats, stunning wreaths, floral bouquets, bedroom floral accents, drapery tie-backs, furnishings and couture. The entire book is photographed in glorious full color at Camela's home and at The Ribbonry, her shop in Perrysburg, Ohio where you will see a breathtaking recreation of a 1730s ribbon boutique from the 1730s, the epoch of ribbons' greatest glory. To complete your adventure into the world of ribbonry, Camela weaves a brief history of the ribbon's place in history. This inspiring book features: A resource guide to specialty ribbons and other supplies A brief history of the art of ribbonry Step-by-step instructions and detailed full color photos showing how to make 32 lifelike wildflowers and garden flowers 80 spectacular project ideas photographed at The Ribbonry, at Camela's home and at her workshop in Perrysburg, Ohio Special techniques such as ribbon weaving, box pleating and gathering Ribbon--tuck it, twist it, pin it, pull it, and experiment with the magical folds of color. Consider this book to be a ribbon ceremony to help you recognize ribbons' remarkable legacy and versatility. Enjoy your adventure with ribbons! --This text refers to an alternate Paperback edition.

Beautiful inspiring ribbon work. Has given me wonderful ideas for some projects.

This book was exciting to me in many ways. First, it is a perfectly beautiful book with wonderful photography and directions. Then, in reading, I discovered that the author is the owner of the wonderful shop in Perrysburg, Ohio that my daughter and I stumbled upon several years ago as we wandered about Perrysburg waiting for an oil change in my car. It was like a dream store. I had never realized there were so many ribbons and so much to be done with them. That store is what triggered my interest and now I finally have the time to do something about it. Next I found the entire chapter on making doll hats! I am a doll collector and love making doll clothing. I am so happy to have this book! Thanks to for bringing it to my attention. Eunice Wachtveitl

I took this book out from my local library and I really enjoyed it. The author has a sincere passion for ribbonry, she owns her own ribbon shop which I would love to peruse. This book has a history of the author's passion first and some lovely photos of project ideas and inspiration. Later in the book there are some very easy to follow directions on how to make some of the flowers you see throughout the book. The author gives you the materials list and clear cut directions. I have found several designs that I enjoyed enough to modify to be a little more funky for the fun hats and more romantic for the enchanting hats. I was pleased enough to find this book that I purchased it, it gave me plenty of good ideas and a good structure for making ribbon flowers.

Gift for my mom. She enjoys it immensely.

as described, fast smooth transaction Thanks

Really nice book.

Anything written by this lady is guaranteed to be excellent. Great projects with clear instructions. Beautiful photos too. A good buy!
