...a fast-paced series inviting readers to actually makeÂ tough choicesÂ that affect every teen. What an impact to see where your choices lead! ----Jenny B. Jones, Award-winning author of the A Charmed life series and the Katie Parker Production series... a rare author with a tender heart for teenage girls, O'Dell has poured that care into her stories that will lead many readers to make wise choices. ----Robin Jones Gunn best-selling author of the Christy Miller Series and the Katie Weldon Series Both of these stories had been previously published as separate books.Â Â Â They are geared towards tween in the hopes that it will help them to develop the ability to make the right decisions in tough situations. This series is definitely a must read for young girls. (Norma Wills Wakela Runen's World 2011-03-23) Both stories carry strong messages about faith and not caving to peer pressure. The stories carry strong emotional impact with the reader. The problems encountered in these stories include issues like teen drinking, dating, and even bullying. I think there are great lessons to be learned and highly recommend the stories to young girls. (Tracy Farnsworth Round Table For Kids 2011-05-07)

In Truth or Dare, Lindsay Martin and her friends begin playing a game at sleepovers, and it all starts as harmless fun. . .until the dares become more and more risky. In All That Glitters, a high school freshman Drew Daniels wants to be as different from her twin sister as possible—new haircut, new clothes, new friends. . .and a boyfriend. What happens when Lindsay and Drew are faced with making difficult choices? Will they dare to be different? Readers help Lindsay and Drew make the difficult decisions and see how their choices create consequences with life-altering results.

I bought this for my 10 year old daughter to help her navigate through "Girl World" on a level she would appreciate. She LOVES it. And I've seen an improvement in her social decision making skills since she's read it. I think kids her age like the freedom in these books.

I love all of Nicole O'Dell's. I am happy that my Mom bought this book for me. I am also happy that she is having a new book released later this year.

great book for my neice's b' day, hope it builds her faith and inspire her to be different.love it lots.

My almost 11 y.o. LOVES the Scenario books. Yes, I capitalized on purpose because that almost captures her enthusiasm for this series. Why does she love these books? Because she loves being the character and choosing the outcome. She'll select the wrong choice, and then go back and make the right choice. It leads to great conversations as we talk about what makes one choice better than the other. In Dare to be Different, the first story Truth or Dare starts with friends playing a harmless game at regular sleep-overs. Then their games of Truth or Dare take a risky turn. One of them is dared to drink a can of beer. In All that Glitters, one of the girls has to decide whether to give in to her boyfriend and lie to her parents or tell the truth. The girls are learning how to address peer pressure to do things they know are wrong or take the hard stand of doing what is right.

About the Author: Nicole O'Dell is mom to six children, including two-year-old triplets. She hosts Teen Talk Radio and has written several books. She has a heart for teens and is a speaker at conventions, churches and conferences. Synopsis: This is the first book of this series, I have read and I must say I am hooked. I love the opportunity to find out what happens when the wrong choice is made and the opportunity to find out when the right choice is made. Ms. O' Dell's characters are real and credible. She deals with issues that are teens are facing today. Peer pressure drugs, alcohol and sex are temptations our kids are confronted with on a daily basis. Lindsay and Drew find out their choices affect not only them but they also affect their families and friends. These books should be required reading for all teens and their parents. Although this is my first book in this series, it will definitely not be my last. All the opinions contained in this review are mine.

This series may not be heavy-hitting enough for older teens, but it is perfect for tweens! There are two stories in this book, and each have different endings, depending on which one the reader chooses. This allows the readers to experience the consequences of the characters' actions. What a great idea! Lying, testing boundaries, peer pressure--it is all addressed in this book. The dialogue may be a bit much for mothers reading it before giving it to their daughters, but who does not get a headache from their tweens' incessant talking? This book is wholesome--not preachy. If Nicole O'dell writes it, parents do not have to worry about the message! This is a great way to get your daughter hooked on reading. It would make an excellent gift. I recommend it.

This is an excellent book for a young girl that uses relative situations with girls "tween" ages to show decisions they may be confronted with peers and consequences of wrong decisions and rewards of better decisions. I foresee many young girls reading this and having opportunity to choose ahead of time what decision they would make if found in a similar situation. It could very well save many young girls from future heartache as well as show them, if they have already made some bad decisions, God can show them how to turn things around if they will turn to Him and receive His help. I think women; especially Mother's will also like these.
