Roger Priddy's passion for educating children through fun, informative and engaging books has led him to create some of publishing's most enduring and successful non-fiction early learning books. Roger lives in London and has three children, who have been the inspiration behind many of his best publishing ideas.

Great book. My 3 yr old loves it. So many Flaps to lift! great to keep them busy on a plane ride for a bit.

My cousin loves to fly and go through airports, and he has flown with his children since they were infants. They are only 3 years and 18 months old, but they understand what they are seeing (for the most part) and love to open the flaps. I would probably recommend this book for slightly older children. I think the only reason they remain interested in this book is because they do go to airports and have flown numerous times.

I bought this book for my Grandson, just turned 4. He thoroughly enjoyed it, I read to him often, so I'm a good judge as to what he gets out of them. He has flown numerous times, so the airport is not an "unknown" to him. Although he did associate lots of things, I do think this book is geared to maybe 5 years. It is a great book. I'm bringing it with us next flight.

Our grandson loved getting this book for Christmas. He likes the colorful illustrations, the little flaps he can open and the brief descriptions. He has taken several plane trips and this helps him remember the fun he had.

A little difficult to open the flaps on the pages but still a cute book.

Endless entertainment for our toddler and good book to read to a child prior to an air travel.

Got this book for my toddler to look at in the car on a 18 hour car trip. It was perfect. He loves the tabs. It's easy to make up stories about what's happening behind the tabs. We had the playtown on too. They are both awesome. Good to keep them busy.

My two year old loves this book. So many flaps so many new interesting things to learn.
