The Essential Guide to Extraordinary Travel Tired of the same old tourist traps? Whether you're a visitor or a local looking for something different, let North Carolina Off the Beaten Path show you the Tar Heel State you never knew existed. Compete for the Oyster Shucking Championship title at Brunswick Island's annual oyster festival; visit the quirky Belhaven Memorial Museum and its 30,000-piece button collection; or take in rugged mountain scenery from a Great Smoky Mountains Railroad car. So if you've been there, done that one too many times, get off the main road and venture Off the Beaten Path.

Sara Pitzer is a transplanted Yankee who has been traveling in and writing about the South since 1983. She can't go back north, where it's cold and people talk too fast. Sara is a newspaper columnist and lives in the woods with a yard full of birds and a house full of pets. She is based in Richfield, North Carolina.

I have purchased this book and have read it over and over and each every time I go back to this book when I need information. It is a great book with just enough information and I have gone to the places that the books talks about and indeed they are real.

Interesting Read
